Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Fireside chatting is being overdone. We have had six years of this kind of boloney from Washington, say about thirty chats, and we are nationally thirty billion in the hole. These billion dollar chats that have cozened the majority of the American people two-times running, are beginning to lose their charm, as was witnessed in the November election.

Now, just when President Roosevelt began to fish more and chat less, comes Governor Olson with a weak Sacramento imitation of the Washington chat. Governor Olson is trying to sell us on a production-for-use program. This is a little baby Bolshevik, hot out of Russia, but he puts no price on the baby, which anyone with the wits of a wren knows will grow up into another of those New Deal monsters that breathe devastation and trample on the tax payers.

Our own opinion is that Olson is too late with his fireside chatter and production-for-use dreams. Roosevelt has already cleaned up on the people who could pay. Roosevelt may have overlooked, in his great good nature and generous chatting, a few white chips, but it is extremely doubtful if Olson can coax these out of the legislature, which has the first say regarding new taxation.

The hundred million guinea pigs are so full of experimental virus that there is really no room for more. Production-for-use is nothing more or less than state collectivism. In Russia this delicate plant was watered by the blood of millions of people, who died under whip and boot of Communist party officers in forced labor, or were starved to death waiting for this noxious weed to bear fruit. It would not be necessary, of course, to sacrifice human lives, immediately at any rate, to set up a production-for-use plant in California. But it would be necessary to manure it richly with the tax payers money.

People who receive anything for nothing do not value it. People who receive government aid do not thank the government and value it exactly the same as they value water or the air they breathe. After the first shame of these charity donations is over, they quickly adjust themselves and find that a rich government should have provided for them much more handsomely than it has. They not only bite the hand that feeds them but seek literally to consume the hand.

We have the spectacle of Congressmen being threatened with another march on Washington by the Southern States ralidals. One quick tempered member from Georgia, when impudently told that if he did not vote for the President's 150 million addition to the relief bill, they would remember his dereliction when the next election came, heartily slapped his insolent interrogator and remarkeded: "Remember that also.' In this state the radicals are being slapped down in Westwood and Redding. Wherever a minority of this pestilential brotherhood gather they immediately begin throwing the majority out of work, by hook or crook. They stopped the work in Westwood and it has not yet been resumed. They stopped work on the Central Valleys project at Redding but after some delay it is now going forward. They stopped the work in the Murchie mine in Nevada County, but only for a few days. They differ from the I. W. W. of a generation ago, only in the fact that in some departments of Federal and state government they now have support.

It would be interesting to know just how much relief expenditure on the part of Federal, state and county governments, the communists have been responsible for. The pickets that quit their jobs to pace Red Dog road, were mostly on direct relief. Everywhere John L. Lewis' following has laid its blighting hand, men have quit employment and gone on relief. The cost to taxpayers undoubtelly has run into hundreds of millions of dollars. No wonder, Congress is cutting down on the huge sums that have been squandered on men who much prefer to picket and riot than to work. It is strongly suspected, that had it not been for the relief provided by a prodigal government, the Communist movement would have been very short lived. As Governor Olson comes with his mulk bucket for another experiment to cost umpty umph millions for putting men to work, when on a national scale thirty billions expenditure has failed to reduce the number of unemployed, it is no wonder he finds the tax payer cow, so jolly well milked already, is an extremely fractious and wary critter.

COST ESTIMATED FOR RESUMING CHAMPION WORK

In the opinion of some mining engineers, the estimate of a million dollars cost to resume work in the Champion-Mountaineer group of mines, is the bunk. One engineer estimates that by using the Fortuna shaft for a center of operations the cost of exploring the great area between the Fortuna and the old workings the cost could be held down to around $100,000.

This engineer, well known in the district, states that by sinking the Fortuna shaft 1500 feet to a total depth of 1900 feet, and then running a crosscut 3,000 feet to intercept the Providence shaft at a depth of approximately 3,300 feet, the high yielding New Years, Merfifield, Mountaineer and California veins would be cut. If it were desired to unwater the old workings, accurate maps of which are available, it could be done through diamond drilling, and the water thus released pumped out in the ordinary course of the new development.

A large area could thus be explored from the Fortuna, adjacent to which are ample grounds for a mill and other buildings and for waste dumps, if exploration warranted the outlay.

Dr. Carl P. Jones, Errol McBoyle and Bert Craze yesterday descended the Fortuna shaft to examine old and new developments. The shaft is now free of water due to past few days pumping operations.

IDAHO MARYLAND NET $1,193,446

The report of the Idaho Maryland Mines Corporation for 1938 shows a net profit of $1,193,446 after deduction of all charges including depreciation and depletion aggregating $428,135. Net profit is equal to 67 cents a share on 1,778,573 shares of capital stock and compares with the 1937 net profit of $1,124,805 or 64 cents a share on 1,765,779 shares then outstanding.

The company abandoned its mining operations at Forbestown late in 1938 and relinquished its leases, a resulting loss of $213,046 on this project being charged against the earned surplus in 1938.

ARREST OF FORMER N. C. BOY IN SACRAMENTO

Robert Bobst, 18, who formerly lived in Nevada City was arrested Tuesday night in Sacramento after a fight with a liquor store owner in Sacramento. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Bobst of Vallejo arrived in Sacramento Tuesday evening and stated that their son is 16 years and not 18 as he had stated.

Young Bobst was apprehended in the Mission Theatre in Sacramento Tuesday afternoon after a city wide police hunt.

It is alleged that he robbed W. E. Sullivan, proprietor of a liquor store at 1720 L street of $8. Sullivan walked up to Bobst afterwards and he started running. Sullivan fired for times at him, Bobst stopped and fired back four times. He said Sullivan fired a fifth shot which struck him in the right foot. While living in Nevada City with his parents young Bobst attended the Nevada City schools.

OLSON RAPPED BY AFL COUNCIL

NOTE: The following resolution was adopted by the Executive Council of the California State Federation of Labor, meeting in regular quarterly session, at the Empire Hotel, San Francisco:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, Organized Labor has long been opposed to and has made many protests against the use of the California State Highway Patrol in industrial disputes, and

WHEREAS, The California State Highway Patrol has no specific authority by law in the policing of industrial disputes, but was created to patrol the highways of the State in connection with the enforcement of the Motor Vehicle Act and for the protection of the motoring public, and

WHEREAS, The indiscriminate use of the Highway Patrol in industrial disputes increases the antagonism and tension in such situations, and virtually amounts to the setting up of a State Police force, which Organized Labor has also steadfastly opposed, and

WHEREAS, Governor Culbert L. Olson of the State of California has caused the State Highway Patrol to be used extensively in current industrial controversies within the State, particularly at Westwood, Lassen County, and in the vicinity of Redding, Shasta County, and

WHEREAS, Governor Olson has dispatched large numbers of members of the State Highway Patrol into the Westwood and Redding areas at the request of radical minority labor groups who seek to destroy the conditions of members of organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor ,now therefore be it

RESOLVED, That the Executive Council of the California State Federation of Labor, in regular session assembled in San Francisco the 19th day of March, 1939, does hereby:

Publicly condemn Governor Cutbert L. Olson for his maladminis tration in the illegal and excessive use of the State Highway Patral in the disputes referred to, and for his failure to fairly use his power of office to bring about settlement of said disputes through diplomatic, instead of antagonistic, means, and be it further

RESOLVED, That Governor Olson also be condemned for his repeated threats to send the State Militia, or National Guard, into the troubled areas a,nd be it further,

RESOLVED, That the policy of the Governor be construed by this body as misconduct in office, and be it further

ROTARY HEARS JOHN FORTIER TALK ON BANK

Ninety per cent of all the business in the country is done on credit, John Fortier, Assistant Manager of the Nevada City Branch of the Bank of America, told Nevada City Rotarians in his address yesterday, and ninety per cent of all automobiles are sold on the installment basis. Fortier explained to the Rotarians the part the bank plays in the community in the orderly conduct of business. Merchants, even though in good financial condition, frequently need assistance of the banks in tiding over peak periods of buying in anticipation of peak demand. He cited the case of construction of a house, too, where the bank finances the investment where the actual cash investment may be only three or four thousand dollars yet the complete turn over will amount to $15,000 or $20,000 and furnish employment for one hundred or so men. The three "C's" must be satisfied in considering all applications for loans, according to Fortier. They are Character, Capacity (for earning), Capital (or collateral). The applicant might be strong in two and weak in one of them and be considered not a good bank risk. The bank, Fortier said, not only looked at desirability of a loan from the bank's standpoint, but from the standpoint of the individual himself and of the community. Oftentimes the applicant for a loan is overestimating his capacities, possible market, etc., and if the loan were granted would result in ultimate loss to him. This would mean a reflection on the business life of the community also, since each business failure in a community is that much against its commercial standing. Banks are anxious to make good loans, Fortier said, and the banker who has made four or five such loans by the end of the day figures he has accomplished something just the same as the merchant who has made some good sales during the day.

ESTES SENTENCED

F. William Estes, convicted last week by a jury, of having been guilty of lewd and lascivious conduct with his eight year old daughter was yesterday sentenced by Superior Judge George I. Jones to an indeterminate sentence in San Quentin. Probation was denied on recommendation of Probation Officer A. W. McGagin.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leiter spent Wednesday in Sacramento.

Blackwood To Folsom; Wife To Tehachapi

Life imprisonment in Folsom was the sentence meted out by Superior Judge George L. Jones yesterday afternoon to Irl Blackwood, convicted of having murdered James Roots on New Years day in a dispute over a rusty tin outhouse. He was also sentenced to an indeterminate term on his conviction of second degree murder for the killing of Arthur LaValley at the same time.

The conviction of murder in the second degree of Irene Blackwood, wife of Irl, on plea of defense attorneys, George E. Foote and William Cassettari, was reduced by Judge Jones to manslaughter. She was sentenced to an indeterminate term in the California Institution for Women at Tehachapi. Attorney Cassettari pleaded that the evidence did not show that Mrs. Blackwood had been accessory to the New Year day killings. He stated that aside from the fact that she walked down to the scene of the killings with a gun in her hand there was no evidence to show that she had any part in the shooting, or had assisted her husband in any way. Judge Jones remarked that a study of the evidence failed to show intent on the part of Mrs. Blackwood to do murder and to prove that Mrs. Blackwood was guilty of second degree murder it would be necessary to show intent. Accordingly he reduced the judgment from second degree murder on both counts to manslaughter.

The motion for a new trial for either Irl or Irene Blackwood was denied. An appeal will be taken to the Appellate court.

It was due to the plea of Attorney Foote, that Irl Blackwood suffered from a lung complaint that Blackwood was sentenced to Folsom rather than San Quentin, which is at sea level There were but few spectators in court.

The late Arthur LaValley leaves a widow and five young children, the oldest fourteen. The late James Roots leaves a widow and three young children. The oldest is eight. Both families are receiving state aid.

HAILSTONES OF HUGE SIZE FALL IN BLOOMFIELD

One of the most spectacular lightning storms ever to be witnessed by local residents is reported by officials of the Tahoe National Forest at Nevada City, with the statement that fortunately no forest fires were started as a result of it. According to the report, huge displays of sheet, ball and forked lightning were witnessed, at times huge forked bolts streaked horizontally over half the horizon. Hailstones one and one-half inches in diameter were reported by Forest Ranger Frank McCaslin at North Bloomfield station.

McCaslin stated that ,accompanied by his wife, he had gone to a point above North Bloomfield to witness the unusual electric display when the hailstorm hit them. Hailstones were deposited to a depth of four inches on the ground, the average size being the size of a large marble, and, McCaslin states, some extra large specimens were one and one half inches in diameter by actual measurement. On the morning after he observed manzanita leaves to be beaten off and pine needles scattered all over the ground, and a box of hailstones he had collected and left in the car all night were still a very large size. In places where the snow lay on the ground, the hail had penetrated five or six inches into it, giving the snow slopes a decided "pocked marked" appearance.

ROTARY DELEGATION GOES TO MARYSVILLE

Carol Coughlan on Wednesday evening drove a delegation of Nevada City Rotarians to Marysville where a large contingent of San Francisco Rotary gave a splendid program. In the party were Oscar Odegaard, Andy Larsen, Lonny Noyes, H. M. Leete and Dick Lane. Among those who participated in the San Francisco club program was Uda Waldrop, organist for the Palace of the Legion of Honor. He played upon the piano a beautiful intermezzo of his own composition. A talented group of Bohemian club singers in costume sang several popular Italian songs, among others, "O Sole Mio," and Upidee, Upidi." More than 200 Rotarians, including those of Marysville and from clubs throughout Northern California, and the San Francisco delegation of approximately 30 members sat down to dinner in the Marysville Elks Club's great banquet room.

SNOW-GO TO CLEAR YUBA PASS FOR TRAFFIC

Crews and equipment were sent out yesterday from the local state division of highways headquarters to start opening the Yuba Pass. Work started at midnight Thursday. It will take about three days of continuous work to clear the pass of about six feet of snow. A huge snow-go was brought from Sacramento and sent out on the job via Downieville yesterday.

LAUGHTER ENDS FOR MERRY ALIEN ON SRA ROLLS

One alien, whose name the SRA officials have refused to divulge, has been cut off the free money list, because SRA Investigator Jerry Delaney, found that he had sources of income that had not been revealed and that his wife was earning enough to support the two.

This man was one of the five aliens who were dropped from the county WPA rolls because he was not a citizen of the U. S. A. Following his separation from the WPA he was wont to foregather with his former WPA companions while they were laboring diligently (?) and lying on his back in the shade, taunt them with the fact that he was receiving more money under SRA without even going through the motions of working, than they were receiving on their WPA jobs. This alien now must somehow worry along with the wages of his wife receives, augmented by whatever other income it is that the investigator found.

A Senator's Editorial

It would be difficult to add any clarity to the statement of Senator Pat Harrison on the question of governmental fiscal affairs. Granting that he is qualified as an expert on the subject (he is Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee) his statement is therefore reprinted here. As a citizen and taxpayer, it is worth your while to read; in fact, to memorize:

"The government's fiscal picture must be carefully scanned, and that doesn't mean next year, but now—and it should be done through clear vision and not through colored lens.

"We are confronted with a budget which calls for over 10 billion dollars in appropriations for the next fiscal year—we have a national debt of 40 billion dollars—taxes are now so heavy that to increase them would add additional burdens upon American industry and the American people. Additional taxes would act as a deterrent to the revival of business.

"I eppreciate the difficulty of the task, but if everyone connected with the operation of Government, whether in the executive, or legislative departments, will realize the serious fiscal situation confronting us, and counsel together and coopeate in mapping out a plan, and unflinchlingly and without political consideration work toward that end, we can accomplish results that will bring hope and encouragement to our people and financial stability to our Government.

"If immediate and unified plans are not laid, and enormous and unprecedented expenditures are continued, with the national debt mounting, economic confusion and chaos are inevitable.

"I have no confidence in the economic philosophy that we must spend ourselves out of this economic disorder."—Contributed.

Real Propaganda

(From The Baltimore Sun)

Twice, recently, ships loaded with refugees from Germany have touched at Baltimore on their way to other ports. On both occasions the same thing has happened. The passengers, given shore leave, have made a rush to the Baltimore restaurants to eat butter. The reason is that at home most of them had not seen butter for months, or years, so when they found that any amount was available here they went wild.

The speeches of the statesmen, the charts and graphs of the economists, and the statistics of the military experts are ometimes hard for the ordinary man to understand, so frequently he disregards them and misses their implications altogether. But tell him that under Nazi rule ordinary folk are not allowed to have butter, and you have told him something significant, something that he understands, something that gives him a solid, tangible reason for opposing Nazi rule. Absence of butter is propaganda that works.—Contributed.

Working For Uncle Sam

A current report of the U. S. Civil Service Commission shows there were 917,303 persons holding Federal government jobs last December. This is the highest figure on record, and does not include the army, navy, CCC, WPA or PWA.

Thus, the complexities of the Washington government are well revealed by the fact that it takes about a million persons to handle them.

Then if the army, navy, CCC, WPA and other government projects are included, it is estimated that one of every eight of America's working population receives his pay from the Federal tax till. That means that the other seven must somehow earn the taxes to pay the salary of the one and at the same time contribute to the suppot of State, county and local governmental agencies.

So it is not enough that a man earn a living for himself and family. No matter what his wages—whether they are sufficient to buy all the things he and his family would like to have—he must still give up part of his earnings to help meet the ever expanding payroll in Washington.—Contributed.

BRICKLEY TALKS ON VACILLATING BRITISH POLICY

M. J. Brickley gave last night the third of a series of lectures at the Washington elementary school.

It is a series of lectures devoted to Central Europe and the Balkans. Brickley digressed briefly from the main theme to give a summary of the British situation in relation to Central Europe under the title of "Britain's Diplomatic Difficulties." This topic casts light on the amazing situation created by Chamberlain's visit to Hitler and on Britain's vacillating attitude in Spain, Italy and Czechoslovakia.

Mrs. Rose Jones had as guests Sunday, her son, Ed Clunes and wife, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Freese Sr., and son, Robert, Mr. and Mrs. LeForest Freese, daughters, Loretta and Carol, of Bryte, Yolo county and Lillian Salincoff of Sacramento.

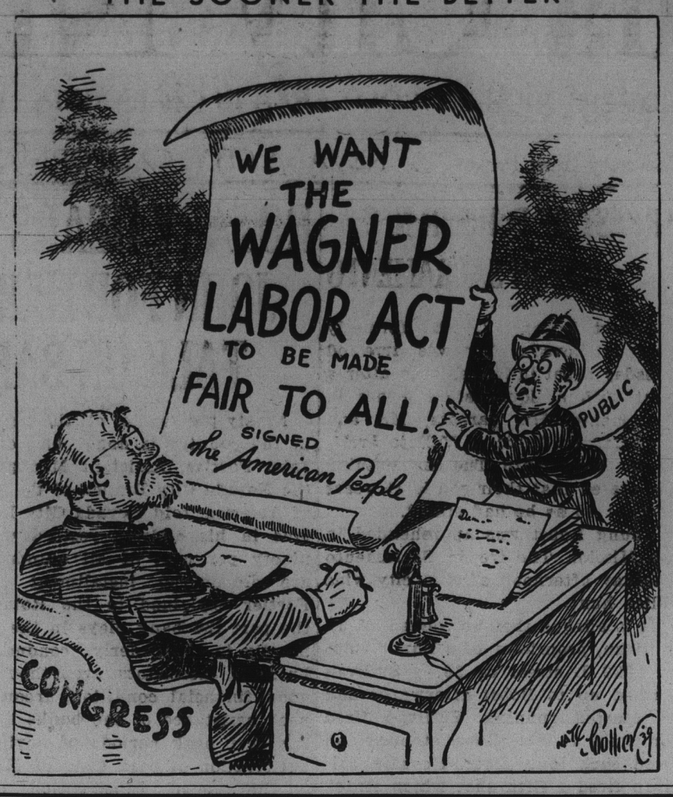
THE SOONER THE BETTER



WITH YOUR ASSEMBLYMAN
"SCOOP" THURMAN
AT THE STATE CAPITOL

The first bill effecting the Sixth Assembly District was approved by the conservation committee last week and will, no doubt come up for a vote on the floor some time this week. The bill, A. B. 739 is sponsored by your assemblyman and would repeal the present law which requires owners of pine timberland to pay a two cents per acre tax fire prevention. The bill has the support of the state board of forestry.

A. G. Thurman

Another of the writer's bills which was ordered "do pass" by the committee on civil service with a unanimous vote is A. B. 2003 which will give physically disabled persons an opportunity to take civil service examinations for position for which they could qualify. It would allow, for example, a person who is hard of hearing and who desired to take an examination for a position which their physical condition would not interfere with, the right to have a short hand reporter assist them at the examination. I believe that the bill will pass when it comes up for a vote on the floor this week. The physically handicapped have enough handicaps without additional ones which would interfere with their securing employment which they could do. Apearing before the cammittee in behalf of the bill was Fred Tuttle, Jr., Auburn attorney and brother of Judge Raglan Tuttle of the district court of appeals.

Last week we mentioned the fact that the $4,000,000 additional relief appropriation might come before the lower house during the week. However the appropriation bill did not reach the floor last week but no doubt will be sent to the floor this week by the committee on social welfare. This committee held two lengthy hearings last week and considerable opposition to the appropriation developed. One assemblyman in committee made the charge that relief administration salary rolls had been increased by 50 per cent during a year's period in which relief rolls mounted only 20 per cent. This includes a month of the new administration in which salary charges have increased 33 per cent.

The relief situation was thoroughly aired in the committee hearings and when the bill comes before the assembly it will probably be given additional discussion. There are many assemblymen who are not satisfied as yet with the way relief is being administered. They feel that too much money is being spent for the administration of relief. They desire to keep the cost of the administration down and spend relief money for those for whom it is intended and not to increase salaries of those in charge of the work.

No radical labor bills have as yet come up for a hearing before the labor and capital committee of the assembly. In this connection we received a fine letter from a Roseville man who said "I am a union labor man but I am absolutely opposed to all radical labor legislation."

A bill in which all sportsmen should be interested, A. B. 748, was given a "do pass" by the fish and game committee of the lower house last week. This bill authorizes licensing of persons controlling shooting rights on 120 acres or more to operate shooting preserves for shooting game birds, other than migratory game birds. It would allow ranchers to open their acreage if they so desired for hunting purposes charging the hunters a fee for the privilege of using their ground. The state farm bureau favors this bill, Senator Jerry Seawell of Roseville is co-author of a companion bill in the senate.

AN INVITATION

This is an invitation to the teachers and the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades of the schoos of the Sixth Assembly District to visit the assembly chambers during the present session. If you are interested please write me as to what day you would like to attend. This invitation is also extended to high school teachers and their classes.

A FEW SIDELIGHTS

The veteran members of the assembly always have a little fun at the expense of the new members. When a freshman legislator's first bill comes up for a vote on the floor the veterans all press the red button, which flashes a no vote on the electric voting board. If a new legislator is not wise to this procedure he usually gets red in the face. Before the vote is totaled, however, all those who voted no on the bill change their votes to yes. The gag, however, wears off after a few of the freshmen are properly given the works.

The Sixth Assembly District, besides having one assemblyman and four state senators, has three assemblymen at large, two of whom formerly served either the present district or a part of it. In addition another assemblyman was born in the district: These three legislators are Senator Jesse Mayo our predecessor, who served the district for three terms; George A. Clark, who now represents Merced and Madera Counties, several years ago was a resident of Inyo County and represented Indo ,Mono, Tuolumne and Mariposa in the state assembly, and James H. Phillips of the 18th District, who was born in Sonora and who has a brother living in Groveland. These legislators all have an interest in the Sixth District and have been most helpful to the writer.

Last Friday the assembly observed St. Patrick's Day with a special program which was attended by Governor Culbert Olson, members of the state senate and the wives and friends of the legislators. Assemblyman Tom Maloney of San Francisco was master of ceremonies with Assemblyman Edward O'Day delivering the address of the day. Musical numbers, songs and stories contributed to the day's program which was enjoyed by all present. At the writer's desk for the program, besides Mrs Thurman, were Mrs. Jerrold Seawell, wife of the speaker pro tem of the state senate and Mrs. Charles Brown, wife of the senator from Inyo and Mono counties.

He was 70 years of age. He leaves a wife and several nephews and nieces. Funeral services are under direction of Holmes Funeral Home.

This organization enlists a committee of young people who volunteer to sell artificial flowers made by the blind, the proceeds of which are used for purchasing Braille books for the libraries of the blind. Those who will volunteer to sell these flowers are asked to meet tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at City Hall Fire department to receive flowers and instructions for selling them.

The funeral of Charles Cowles will take place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock with interment to be made in Pine Grove cemetery. Cowles suffered brain concussion and death from an alleged attack by his son at the family home on Indian Flat last Thursday evening. Holmes Funeral Home has charge of funeral arrangements.

STATE GOV. MUST TIGHTEN BELT SAYS SEAWELL

By CLEM WHITAKER

Senator Jerrold L. Seawell of Roseville, president pro tem of the California State Senate, is a husky, lusty fellow who can sing "I've been working on the railroad" with real gusto—because "Jerry' used to do just that!

In a political era notable for "brain trust" theorists and academic experimentalists the Honorable Mr. Seawell is a refreshing hard-boiled realist who calls his shots as he sees them.

And an interview with the ex-railroadman who now presides as the Senates president pro tem though it produces little in the way of ten-dollar verbiage, quickly gets down to fundamentals. Here we go:

Question: "What do you consider Senator Seawell, to be the major problem confronting the people of California?"

Answer: "Extravagant spending and exorbitant taxation. We've spent so much on government that we're wrecking the people who support government".

Question: "Now Senator, if that's the case, what do you think the present State Legislature will do about it?"

Answer: "I can't speak for the whole Legislature, but most of the members of the Senate, I believe, will go right down the line for a program of sensible ecenomy and retrenchment, if the taxpayers in their home districts will get busy and make known their sentiments. The public can have anything it wants from the Legislature, if it wants it bad enough to ask for it!"

Question: "Now listen, Jerry (the interview has progressed to this stage informally), let's get down to cases. Governor Olson's budget calls for $63,000,000 in additional taxes. The relief problem is acute; our schools need adequate financing. Under the circumstances, is it possible to live within our present income without sacrificing necessary governmental services?"

Answer: "If the State can't live within its income, it will have failed where its citizens have succeeded. During the depression most of the people of California tightened up their belts, cut the family overhead, eliminated luxuries—and somehow made outgo balance with income. The State can do that, too—if the people want it bad enough to demand it—and no school budget need be cut; no unemployed need go hungry. But we can't do it if money for relief goes into flossy automobiles, State chauffers and a fat salary increase for the relief director. We've got to cut out the frills and get down to cases—just like the people back home!"

And that, in substance, sums up the views of Senator Seawell, the Senates president pro tem. If the people demand economy, he predicts they'll get it. But if they want lawmakers to "bring home the bacon" in governmental luxuries, they'll get that—and new taxes with it. Mr. Seawell, however, has heard from home. His people, he says, want economy—and he intends to give it to them!

GASOLINE SALES SHOW 4 PCT. GAIN

SACRAMENTO, March 23.—Gasoline sales continued to increase last month according to the tax report for February, issued today by the State Board of Equalization.

On the basis of motor vehicle fuel distributions for the month, sales amounted to 123,583,802 gallons on which a tax of $3,707,514.06 was levied. This represented a gain of 4 per cent over the tax of $3,564,705.33 levied for the same month of the previous year.

The February total, however, was slightly under that for January when the gasoline tax amounted to $3,976,767.03. This total, in turn, was 4.57 per cent above that of January, 1938, the board reported.

FIVE BOYS WIN FAIR TRIPS

Mr. Noble and Mrs. Ellen Walmsley will accompany the children by auto to Sacramento and Mrs. Walmsley will then go with the group on the train to the bay city.

COBRA VENOM IS CONVERTED INTO ANAESTHETIC

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—Cobra venom, the fiercely toxic secretion of the large Asiatic snake, which kills thousands of humans annually, has been converted by the wizardry of science into what may be the most potent of all human pain killers, a "cerebral anaesthetic" without any known equal. Treatment oi patients at the University of California Medical School prove that the venom in solution is immeasurably more potent than the strongest doses of morphine or other drugs in alleviating intractable pain. Furthermore, it leaves no toxic reaction and is not habin forming.

This striking reversal of the cobras killing power was achieved first by Dr. David L. Macht, prominent pharmacologist of Baltimore, Md. The development was immediately followed up by the University of California Medical School and the preparation of one part venom to 5000 parts salt solution injected intra-muscularly into a patient suffering from the pain of stomach cancer, a pain so intense that a half grain or double dose of morphine had no effect. After the third injection of the venom solution it was found that no further morphine treatment was necessary. After the fourth injection the pain had become completely abolished. After the sixth injection, the patient was entirely free of pain for the period of a week.

Susequently the preparation was administered to a group of patients in the University clinic who were suffering intractable pain from locomotor ataxia. The pain control achieved by the cobra venom was notably successful and gave rise to the supposition that the venom solution can alleviate many other types of intense pain without ill effect.

Dr. Macht had developed the fact that the venom is similar in chemical nature to morphine and that the chemical nucleus of each is closely related. As the venom works on the nerves, unlike other snake venoms, which attack the life-sustaining properties of the blood, the effect of the solution is to block out pain impulses as they impinge on the brain, thus forming a true "cerebral anaesthetic."

The venom for the hospita was obtained through the efforts of Miss Rose Steinhart, admissions assistant in the University clinics, the University having no funds with which to purchase the drug for experimental purposes.

Eight members of the Willow Valley Tuesday club met at the home of Mrs. Phil Harding Tuesday afternoon to enjoy a dainty luncheon and afternoon of fancy work. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. M. Hoff on Pine street.

MIGRANTS FROM EAST SHOW HIGH RATIO OF ILLS

BERKELEY, March 23.—Conditions of health, sanitation and general living in the army of migrants and transients in California, which have called for strenuous state and federal action, are revealed in a report by the University of California Bureau of Public Administration, made at the request of a number of the members of the current Legislature.

The report states that in one recent year approximately 90 per cent of the reported cases of typhoid in all California occurred among the migrants. A year later three migrant labor camps revealed 84 cases of tuberculosis among the 70 families. A still more recent study of 1,000 migrant children by state agencies showed that more than 30 per cent suffered from malnutrition and rickets. Eigthey three per cent of the migratory children examined were found to have physical defects of some sort.

Many of the tuberculous people were being forced to live solely on a diet of potatoes and onions and for most of them the payment of doctor, drug and hospital bills was ont of the question. Adequate state action was blocked because, at the time the University's investigators were in the field, there were only 13 employes in the state's Bureau of Epidemiology and Tuberculosis. The State Bureau of Child Hygiene had a personnel of three and the Bureau of Orthopedics, which administers aid to physically defective children, consisted of one public health nurse.

As against this the University people found that more than a quarter of a million people "in need of manual employment" or relief entered California by motor vehicle alone between July, 1935 and December, 1938. The figures do not include those who entered by railroad or bus.

Efforts of both the state and the nation to cope with this overwhelming problem through the establishment of comprehensive public health routines, subsistence farms and settlements and both direct and work relief are detailed in the study, which is expected to form the basis for further corrective legislation. The study was directed by Victor Jones, research assistant in the Bureau.

Alec Cameron at Atlan, British Columbia is here visiting his sister, Mrs. A. C. Larsen.

GOOD crops at good prices . . . isn't that the kind of farm relief that farmers really want? Since 1933, the brewing industry has bought 15 billion pounds of American farm products . . . paying good prices, too.

Add to that, the million jobs that Beer has made . . . and the fact that Beer pays a million dollars a day in taxes: local, state, national.

To safeguard these advantages, the brewing industry stands ready to cooperate fully with all law enforcement authorities. The brewers can enforce no laws . . . but they do insist that retail beer outlets should give no offense to anyone.

SHEEP FLOCKS DESTROY STATE'S WILD FLOWERS

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 23. — Are the great flocks of sheep that roam California's deserts during the spring flowering season killing off the wild flowers?

Dr. Raymond B. Cowles, assistant professor of zoology on the Los Angeles campus of the University of California thinks so and foresees a real danger to the state's well known tourist attraction.

He says: "With Conservation Week fresh in mind, nature lovers should consider the puzzling problem which has been growing more acute during the past few years Each spring as the desert bursts into bloom, shepherds bring their sheep down to the desert to let them graze on wild flowers.

"Because rain water tends to concentrate on either side of California's paved crown roads, our desert highways are lined with blossoms of greater abundance and fragrance than elsewhere. During dry years, flowers appear almost exclusively close to the highway.

"The Evening Primrose, the Sand Verbena, the Spectacle Pod and other flowers make the best showing in the most convenient places—that is, along the relatively moist highway edges. Legislation has protected the flowers from human depredation only to feed the sheep."

Dr. Cowles recommends that legislation be prepared and enacted to reduce the menace of the sheep grazing. "Unless something is done soon," he predicts, "California will no longer have such an effective roadside show each spring. Her blooming deserts and foothill slopes will become barren."

HONOLULU OPENS AT NEV. THEATRE NEXT SUNDAY

Eleanor Powell, acknowledged to be the world's most accomplished tap dancer, proves her title again in "Honolulu", which opens at the Nevada Theatre Sunday.

This lavish new musical has all that the Broadway shows of modern times can offer and more. Robert Young has the male lead in a dual role, carrying the pleasantly light weight of a humorous, but plausible story. Comedy is provided by George Burns and Gracie Allen, of screen and radio fame, and the music is superb.

A large and talented supporting cast includes Rita Johnson, Clarence Kolb, Jo Ann Sayers, Ann Morris, Willie Fung, Cliff Clark, Edward Gargan, Eddie Anderson, Sig Rumann, Ruth Hussey, Edgar Dearing and Kealoha Holt, selected in a contest embracing all the islands as Hawaii's champion hula dancer.

REQUIREMENTS TO ENTER LAW SCHOOL RAISED

BERKELEY, March 23. — Entrance examinations for the University of California School of Jurisprudence will be held simultaneously on the Berkeley and Los Angeles campuses on Saturday, March 18, according to Dean Edwin D. Dickinson.

On the Berkeley camps the tests will be given in room 106, Boalt Hall, and on the U. C. L. A. campus at room 19, Chemistry Building. They will begin at 9 a. m. The examinations will be repeated on the Berkeley campus on August 23.

At present admission to the University School of Jurisprudence may be obtained in two different ways. Applicants presenting a bachelor's degree from an approved college and having a B average in the last two years of their undergraduate work are admitted as soon as satisfactory evidence concerning their character has been obtained. For applicants otherwise qualified, but having less than a B average, may qualify for admission by achieving satisfactory ratings in aptitude tests and a pre-admission interview. This system of admission represents a slight revision of the system used in previous years.

In commenting on the changes in procedure, Dean Dickinson said, "The revised admission system is being administered conservatively. We would exclude no applicant who really merits the opportunity which the state has provided and admit no applicant who does not have at least a fair prospect of success in professional study. Thus, within the limitations of our resources, we hope to serve more effectively both the young people who aspire to become lawyers and the profession for which we train."

The "voice mirror" features the open house program of the Pacific Telegraph and Telephone company in this city which is being held in the local telephone office today.

The "voice mirror" explained Manager E. E. Thus, one can listen in on his own telephone voice and know just how it sounds to others. A similar unit is being displayed at the Bell System exhibit at the Golden Gate International Exposition.
